As of the end of October 2009, the solvency adequacy ratio of all the foreign insurance companies stationed in China had reached above 150% on average, meeting supervision requirements. The foreign life insurance companies made certain achievements in optimizing business structure and improving the quality of development. Generally speaking, foreign insurance companies remained steady growth momentum in terms of business scale and profitability. Still, they played an important role in perfecting the main structure of China's insurance market, pushing insurance products for innovation and expanding the insurance market in central-western regions of China.
