

China Textile and Apparel Production & Sales Statistics, 2009

The external demand for China's apparel industry was still sluggish in 2009, and domestic demand was in low level but with steady growth, and the accumulative output reached 25.401 billion, up 20.42% year on year. The apparel output dropped substantially in February, while rebounded to 2.14 billion pieces in June, then followed by slight fluctuations, and output rose to 2.5 billion pieces in December due to order boom at the end of the year.

The year of 2010 will see better domestic and international economic environment than 2009, China's textile and apparel industry will recover steadily. However, it is also confronted with a series of uncertainties including frangible external demand, increase in textile raw materials like cotton, protectionism in international trade and RMB appreciation pressure mounting on.
